SOLICIT FUNDS FOR HORSE SHOW

Committees Canvass Business and Other Interested People Today to Raise Money For Event.

REORGANIZATION IS EFFECTED

If Funds Are Obtained it is Planned to Have a Number of Night Attractions.

The fate of the annual Rush county horse show will be known in all probability tonight. Canvassers were out today attempting to raise enough money to defray the expenses of the show. There is every reason to believe that the money will be subscribed much more willingly this year due to the fact that it has been found to be an excellent attraction in the past and will prove to be a better one in the future.

Reports from the committees at work this afternoon were to the effect that the canvassers were meeting with little opposition and that as much money as not more would be raised this year for the event. The money which is obtained by popular subscription is used to pay the premiums and to defray the other necessary expenses of the show. The horse show promoters do all the work entailed in advertising and conducting the show free of charge. There is much work attached to it and the promoters are to be commended for their earnest endeavors.

It is the purpose of the organization to have more attractions at night than it has ever been the custom in the past. The pony shows, as usual, will be held at night and will be a good drawing card. Plans are being laid to employ other free amusements. Two attractions which were at Carthage, Ohio, a trained saddle horse and a woman who drives an ostrich, have been considered, but no definite steps have been taken toward employing them. It is argued that free exhibitions may be employed cheap now since the fair season has passed and most of the companies which visited them are out of employment. A number of things will be arranged for the night programs if enough money can be obtained.

There has been some talk of erecting bleachers on the streets where the shows will be made, but this is in the formative stage as yet, however. The same thing was considered last year, but was never carried out. It would no doubt bring more people to the show.

The association has reorganized and officers elected. There was only one change. Esta Ryburn was elected secretary to succeed Dr. F. H. Davis. The other officers are, Homer Powell, president; John S. Davis, vice-president, and P. A. Miller, treasurer.

The colors of the show this year will be light green and white and all merchants are requested to decorate in those colors. The show will be held as first planned, Thursday and Friday, October 19 and 20.

That Rush county should have a horse show which excels all others in this section of the State there is no doubt since this county has long excelled all others in raising fine horses in all classes. The show will come to be a very worthy enterprise if it is continued and strengthened each year.

COUNTY COUNCIL TO ELECT.

The county council will convene in special session in the court house next Tuesday, according to an announcement made in the auditor's office this afternoon. The meeting is called for the purpose of electing a successor to Samuel E. Cowan, who died Saturday night.

BUGGY WHEEL COMES OFF

But Mrs. John Poppoon and Daughter are not Hurt.

The belated story of a runaway accident in which Mrs. John Poppoon and daughter, Vera of near Raleigh, miraculously escaped injury, has just reached this city. The story goes that the two were riding along a principal street in Cambridge City when the front wheel came off the buggy and the horse frightened. It ran for two blocks with the axle scraping along in the street and Mrs. Poppoon making frantic efforts to stop it. It was finally brought to a stop with little damage being done with the exception of a bad injury to the horse. It was so serious that the horse could not be driven home, but had to be hauled.

FIRST EARLHAM GRADUATE DIES

Miss Luzena Thornburg, a Member of Initial Class of Quaker School Succumbs.

FUNERAL HELD IN CARTHAGE

Miss Luzena Thornburg, who with the late Joseph A. Clark of Idaho, were graduates of the first class of Earlham college in 1862, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Lewis Rule, near Westland, and was buried yesterday afternoon, the funeral being attended by many from a distance. The remains were taken to Carthage, where a short service was held at the home of Mrs. Eunice Phelps, conducted by the Rev. Charles O. Whiteley of the Friends' church. Burial was made in the church cemetery in Carthage. Death was due to the infirmities of old age. Miss Thornburg was past eighty years.

Until a few years ago she was very prominent in educational circles in the State, occupying a prominent position in the Spiceland academy and Carthage public schools. She also was most active in the Friends' church and she always manifested a great interest in Earlham college and during the debt campaign contributed $250 to the fund.

CONFEDERATE WAR VETERAN EXPIRES

Richard H. Bates, Age 79, Father of Local People, Succumbs in Greensburg.

THREE CHILDREN RESIDE HERE

Richard H. Bates, age seventy-nine years, father of Ward Bates, 820 North Sexton street, C. L. Bates, 616 West Tenth street, and Mrs. J. M. Palmer, this city, is dead at his home in Greensburg, following a long illness. The funeral services were held in the Greensburg Christian church this morning at ten-thirty o'clock, the local relatives attending.

Mr. Bates was born in Scott county, Kentucky, May 12, 1832 and belonged to a family of eleven boys, eight of whom served in the civil war. Four of them fought with the Unionists, while the other four were allied with the Rebel forces. Richard Bates was a Rebel and was a member of the 9th Kentucky cavalry in the regiment of Colonel Breckenridge, one of the great leaders in the Confederate ranks. Four other children, besides those in Rushville, survive Mr. Bates.

FEARED HER BOY WISHED HIS BODY WOULDBESTOLEN TO LIE IN STATE

Staggering Under His Weight, Mrs.
Herbert Innis Rushed Down Street
Crying and Screaming.

HELD YOUNGSTER TO BOSOM

Fancying That Husband Was Following to Snatch Child Away, She Grew Hysterical.

Mrs. Herbert Innis, formerly Miss Kate Swallows, raised a disturbance which attracted everyone on the downtown streets to her side last evening about 6:30 o'clock when she put on a hysterical stunt which would make Leslie Carter look like a cheap vaudeville star. The occasion was the fancied fear that her mother-in-law, Mrs. Jessie Innis of 332 North Morgan street and her husband, would steal her three-year-old boy from her bosom.

Mrs. Innis rushed down Main street last evening staggering under the weight of her stout boy which she carried in her arms and screaming and uttering incoherent sentences. She was hysterical and bordered on a collapse when she finally sat down on the bench in front of the 99 cent store with her boy still clasped to her breast. As she hurried down Main street she stumbled and barely averted falling to the pavement several times. Men, women and children alike followed in her wake until she was finally overcome and exhausted and sank on the bench in front of the store.

A young woman in distress naturally caused a number of chivalrous men to gather about her. She still acted like she might be bordering on insanity as she snatched her child from the seat by her side and tugged and pulled it to her breast, crying out that "they" should not take it from her. At intervals she pointed out in space and said that "he" was coming. Persons in the crowd looked the same way but they could see nothing of "him."

Several spectators to the unusual scene became sympathetic for the young mother who was in a very sad plight apparently. She had a bruised place under her right eye which she said "they" gave her. Sympathizers

It Was Request of T. E. Gregg That His Corpse be Viewed in Red Men's Wigwam.

WORKED SOLELY FOR LODGE

Remains Brought Here This Afternoon, Will be Buried After Red Men Ritual Service.

It was the request of Theodore E. Gregg, who committed suicide by jumping into the Connersville canal at Connersville yesterday morning, that he lie in state at the new wigwam of the Red Men lodge in this city when he died, according to O. C. Norris, Great Sachem of the order. But conditions are such that his requests can not be carried out.

Mr. Gregg was an ardent lodge-man. He took a most active interest in the doings of the lodge and was the leader in all movements to better the local tribe. He was a booster for the lodge at all times and made it the aim of his life to be true to his lodge vows during the twenty years that he led, as he alleges in the note he left behind, an exemplary life.

Mr. Gregg was one of the prime moving spirits in the local tribe which started the agitation for the new wigwam of which the Red Men of this city are very proud and which is one of the most artistic and modern buildings in the city. When the wigwam was completed, Mr. Gregg requested of O. C. Norris, that when he died, his body be taken to the new building and lie there in state for a day and a night. It is said that he made that request of other Red Men also.

According to Mr. Norris, had the body been removed to this city yesterday afternoon, it might have been placed in the wigwam last evening and have been viewed by the public, but the immediate members of the family had made other arrangements. For that reason Mr. Gregg's requests were not carried out.

It was expected that a private funeral service would be held over the remains at the home of the deceased's half-brother, William Gregg, in Connersville this afternoon at two o'clock. A committee, together with the pall bearers, all made up of members of the local tribe of Red Men, went to Connersville to attend the funeral. The committee was composed of O. C. Norris, Miles S. Cox, Tom Evans, Will McBride, Will Phelps, H. G. Hackman, John Mazingo and Geo. Osborne.

It was planned to place the body on the I. & C. traction car, leaving Connersville this afternoon at three-thirty o'clock and arriving here at four-seven, and ship it to this city. A large number of Red Men were expected to meet the car and accompany the body to East Hill cemetery, where the usual Red Men ritual services will be held over the grave. That will be the only form of service held in this city over the body.

Extra cars will be run and the traction line will have ample accommodations out of Indianapolis that night.

CONNERSVILLE ALL AGOG WITH RUMORS

Not Content With Accidents and Suicide, Gossips Concoct Tales of Other Horrors.

IMAGINARY TALES AFLOAT

As if the city had not had enough real accidents and tragic happenings for a single night and morning in the suicide of T. E. Gregg, the fatal falling of William Bradford, and the painful injuries to Messrs. Snyder and Wooley, says the Connersville News of yesterday, the unknown but ever present Mother of Rumors was busy all forenoon concocting tales of other horrors. Rumors of a man who fell and broke both legs at the Lexington plant, at the Connersville factory and at the Rex, and of a colored man who killed himself in Maplewood added themselves to the list of things that really occurred. None of the physicians in the city, however, knew anything of these cases, and they seem to be entirely imaginary.

FOUND NOT GUILTY OF FOWL MURDER

Decided it Was Not Cruelty to Animals to Wring a Chicken's Neck.

PROCEEDINGS WERE DISMISSED

Squire Kratzer decided last night, that it was not cruelty to animals to wring a chicken's neck and dismissed the case of the State vs. Mrs. William Curry. It was alleged that Mrs. Curry had killed a chicken belonging to Mrs. Kate Morgan, but Mrs. Curry contended that the chicken was dead and she picked it up and threw it over in Mrs. Morgan's yard. Several witnesses were called and after the evidence was heard Squire Kratzer decided there was no case and dismissed the proceedings. He stated that it was only a family quarrel and threatened to place both parties in jail if they ever came before him again. George Young represented the State in the absence of Prosecutor O'Neil.

MILES SUFFERS CHANGE OF MIND

State Fish and Game Commissioner Decides Issuing of Seining Permits Shall be Stopped.

FACES ABOUT IN THE WRANGLE

Sees the Governor, is Shown Letters From Farmers, and is Surprised at Discontent.

Rush county sportsmen who have been watching closely the wrangle over the seining permits issued by the State fish and game commissioner will be interested in the following from the Indianapolis News:

Although he had declared vigorously, only a few hours before, that he would fight "to the last ditch" any effort made by the Marion County Fish and Game Protective Association to cause the fining of any holder of a sein under a special seining permit issued by him, George W. Miles, State fish and game commissioner, announced last night that he would discontinue the policy of issuing the permits by January 1, and recall many of them as rapidly as possible.

The announcement followed a conference with Governor Marshall in the latter's office, when the situation was gone over carefully. Following the announcement of the new policy on the part of the commissioner, an official of the Marion county organization said that body would drop all proceedings set on foot to test the power of the commissioner to issue such permits, as Miles declaration of change met every condition the county organization was demanding.

"The chief purpose of our organization," said Treasurer Mannfeld of the county association, "is to propagate and protect fish in the lakes and streams of the State. The difference concerning the issuance of permits is the only serious difference our organization has ever had with the State department. Our purpose and its purpose are the same and we prefer to work harmoniously with the State commissioner. But the seining permits were a little more than we felt we could stand."

In the conference with the governor Mr. Miles was shown a large number of letters received by the governor from farmers over the State, some of them upholding the commissioner's plan and others opposing. Mr. Miles said the letters to the governor disclosed much more opposition among the farmers than he had thought existed.

AGAINST HITTLE ESTATE.

Two claims were filed in the circuit court this afternoon against Carey Keaton, administrator of the estate of Elizabeth Hittle, deceased. The plaintiff in the first was Elmira Keaton, who demands $1,125. The plaintiff in the second was Mae Keaton, who wants $439.50.

OLD SUIT REVIVED.

An old quiet title and partition suit which has been in the circuit court before was revived this afternoon when Lola Wright Conolly brought suit against William A. Allen, Nancy A. Allen, Walter G. Duke and Florence Duke.

ONE CASE IN COURT.

The morning was spent in court wrestling with the case of William C. McColgin, as administrator of the estate of Martha J. Williams, deceased, against Flora B. Williams and others, a quiet title and deed suit. The case was finally continued by agreement of both sides until Wednesday, October 4.

Unsettled tonight and Thursday.

Daffydil Doings Down In Dippy Dell

Women motorists are all the rage and there was one down in East Second street the other afternoon that was in a rage. She was spinning along at a merry gait, when one of the tires blew out. She was out of that little red runabout in a minute and all fussed up. She jacked up the wheel and began operations like a professional mechanic. A bumpkin who had likely never seen one of those red things before meandered up and began to do the gawky stunt. The feminine autoist ordered the interested on-looker like a true Napoleon that she was, to get the casing. He "repaired" to the too case and she quietly but firmly conveyed the intelligence to him that the casing was the outside tire and could not be found in the tool box. An anxious neighbor howled that her wheels were all twisted, but she thanked the interested one and said her head felt that they were running very smoothly. She panted and fumed. The countryman hurried about in a bustle (a method of travel) when the sound of a great shout echoed up the alley from the planing mill way. They looked up the alley and who should be coming but "Moonie" Moster. Traveling about ten miles an hour, he rushed by and as he passed he squealed, "If Charlie Caldwell drove an automobile to Indianapolis in an hour and forty minutes, could Percy Walk-er?"

Officer, let him out! There's room for one more on the Greensburg excursion.

FOUND A HERD OF SEA ELEPHANTS.

Important Discovery by Museum of Natural History Expedition.

An expedition of the American Museum of Natural History found on one of the islands in the Gulf of California a large number of strange mammals called sea elephants which were supposed to be extinct. The expedition, which was in charge of Dr. Charles H. Townsend of the American Museum of Natural History, included Dr. J. M. Rose of Washington, an authority on botany; Dr. Paul Barth, studying the invertebrates, and L. N. Tongue, the fishery expert of the U. S. S. Albatross.

By far the most important find was made in a large hidden cove on Guadalupe Island, where the scientists came upon three herds of sea elephants.

The first sea elephant seen was a gigantic bull lying on the sand under a cliff. As soon as he sighted the explorers the beast made for the water, but before he reached the edge he was shot by one of the naturalists from a boat, it being impossible to take him alive. This animal was the largest seen, measuring about twenty-one feet in length. His weight was enormous. While he was being killed Dr. Townsend managed to round up five live young sea elephants, and these were taken aboard.

The largest herd of these water elephants comprised about fifty of all ages and sizes. They were so sluggish and inactive that the naturalists walked among them and made many photographs and sketches. The fighting bulls opened their mouths, threw their long snouts up in the air and rolled their heads until they touched their backs, all the time letting out hollow roars much like those of caged lions. At times they emitted from their mouths small clouds of white vapor and rolled their large black eyes. The eyes of the bulls were more than three inches in diameter.

UNIQUE CELEBRATION.

Utah Arranging For Annual Entertainment of Old Men.

Utah has an annual celebration of which but little is known to the outside world. Every year in the fall all the men in Utah who are past seventy years of age are brought to Salt Lake City and entertained handsomely for a week. Their expenses of every kind are paid by public committees which have the matter in charge, and are authorized by the Mormon church to collect funds for the annual festival. Though conducted by the church, the festival is nonsectarian, all the old people being treated alike, regardless of creed or color.

The entertainment is lavish, and when it is over the guests are sent back to their homes, feeling that old age is honorable, at least in Utah. This year it is expected that the number of guests will range from 12,000 to 15,000. They are divided into three classes and grouped accordingly at all the various fetes and banquets. The first class embraces those between seventy and eighty years of age, and they are marked by red badges. The next class comprises all between the ages of eighty and ninety years, and their badges are blue. The most distinguished class is the third, whose privilege it is to wear a badge of pure white, indicating that they have passed the ninetieth milestone in life's pilgrimage. These last are proud of their great age, and appear to regard the other two classes as mere children.

FOUNDED MEMORIAL DAY.

Late Mrs. Vaughan Started Movement For Honoring Soldiers' Graves.

Mrs. Susie L. Vaughan, founder of Memorial day, died recently at Washington. Shortly after the civil war Mrs. Vaughan started the movement for honoring graves of soldiers, which brought about the act of congress, setting aside Memorial day as a national holiday. She was the widow of Judge J. N. Vaughan of San Francisco.

In Jackson, Miss., there stands a monument erected to commemorate the story of how Mrs. Vaughan, who was then Miss Adams, founded Memorial day. Warmly patriotic in nature, she felt something should be done to show honor and respect to those who had fallen in the struggle between the states. She wrote what was called "The Appeal to the Daughters of the Southland," in which she urged that April 25, 1865, be set aside as a day when all the graves of fallen Confederate soldiers be strewn with flowers.

On that day she was in Jackson, and seeing four barren graves after the ceremonies she asked whose they were. On being told they were the graves of Federal soldiers she immediately decorated them with a beautiful bouquet of roses which she held.

Nation wide interest was excited in the movement, and three years later congress set aside May 30 as a national Memorial day, when the graves of all the soldier dead might be strewn with flowers.

They Contained Strichnine and Rejected Suitor Is Held.

Americus, Ga., Sept. 13.—As a result of strichnine being placed in a bottle of headache powders which she kept on the dresser in her room at the hotel, Mary Childers, a bride of six months, is dead, and R. C. Kennedy, a prominent young man, is under arrest charged with her death. Revenge is the motive which is said to have inspired Kennedy.

Mrs. Childers before her marriage was known as the most beautiful girl in this section of the state, and Childers and Kennedy were rivals for her hand. For some time she showed no difference in her treatment of the two young men, but six months ago she suddenly married Childers. Kennedy was deeply angered and it is alleged that he made threats that he would be avenged. It is said that for a time he refused to speak to Mr. and Mrs. Childers, but finally he seemed to become reconciled and began to visit them at their apartments in the hotel. The theory of the officers is that Kennedy put the strichnine in the bottle of headache powders while visiting Mr. and Mrs. Childers. The officers say they can prove that Kennedy bought strichnine a few days before Mrs. Childers' death.

GOUT

Like Rheumatism, Once in the System, Can be Expelled by the Prompt Use of Sulphur in Solution.

Not the old fashioned disgusting doses of a thick mixture of molasses and powdered sulphur, for the system cannot assimilate sulphur in that form. There's a better way—SULFOSOL, the new form of sulphur in solution—the form anxiously desired for hundreds of years by the medical profession and now first realized in SULFOSOL.

SULFOSOL is as soluble as sugar or salt, and it has brought so much joy and gladness to sufferers from Rheumatism, Gout, Eczema and stubborn skin troubles that the whole world should know of this wonderful remedy.

SULFOSOL is the great vitalizer of the blood, expeller of uric acid and other blood poisons and conqueror of Gout and Rheumatism. Get it at your nearest druggist or write to the Sulfosol Company, 72 Trinity Place, New York, for a free book on Gout, Rheumatism and Blood Diseases and the successful use of SULFOSOL in their treatment.

FATALLY WOUNDED

Ripley County Sheriff Too Much for Bad Man.

Versailles, Ind., Sept. 13.—At Holton, near here, a paroled convict named James was shot three times while resisting arrest, and Sheriff Thomas Parks of Ripley county was slightly burned by powder from James' revolver.

Parks and Deputy Stiemaster attempted to arrest James on a warrant charging an attack on Mrs. Irma Williams, aged sixty, when James pulled a revolver and shot at the sheriff. The officers then fired three times at James, each bullet taking effect. One wound in the lung will probably result fatally. One bullet fractured James' jaw and the other lodged in his thigh.

The warrant for James was sworn out following an attack made on Mrs. Williams, who lives alone. The sheriff found James in a Holton poolroom, where the shooting occurred. James is a paroled prisoner of Jeffersonville.

INVESTIGATION
NOW DEMANDED

A Call for a General Cleaning
Up at Gary.

OTHER SCANDALS HINTED AT

Arrest of Mayor Knotts and a Lot of His Councilmen on Grafting Charges May Open the Way For the Investigation of Ugly Hints Which Have Been Heard in Connection With Other Official Acts Up There.

Gary, Ind., Sept. 13.—The recent arrests of Mayor Knotts and a lot of his councilmen may turn out to be the first step in the direction of a general cleaning up of the Calumet region. The bringing of ouster suits against city officers and impeachment proceedings against officers whose duty is to enforce the laws are talked about and there is a grave suspicion that Gary is not the only place where detectives have been at work. Feeling is so strong in Lake county that there has been several suggestions that the Marlon county grand jury should be asked to make an investigation of the conditions that brought about the defeat of the franchise referendum bill in the last legislature.

The statement is made at Hammond, at Crown Point and at Gary that Detective Dean was told as soon as he began to broach the subject of a heating franchise he would have to "come across" before he could get a "look in." Dean makes another statement that is startling if true. He says that in making his deal with one of the city officers for the heating franchise he told the official that he did not like to carry so much money with him and suggested that he send it to Gary by express.

"I don't want any more express business in mine," the city officer is said to have replied. "I got $10,000 not a great while ago and it came by express after banking hours and I had to hire a couple of men to watch it all night." Dean says that the two men were members of the Gary police department and that the conversation is recorded on a dictograph.

When this statement became known people began to "perk up their ears" and wonder if it had any reference to the street railway franchise, granted a few weeks ago. This franchise gave away every street in Gary. The requirements from the holder of the franchise were few and the franchise is of immense value—and the city of Gary did not get a penny in return for it. At the time it was rushed through the council and hastily signed by Mayor Knotts, there was a great deal of ugly talk, but it all ended in talk and the matter apparently dropped out of mind. But the people who are anxious to have graft and indecency eliminated from the Calumet region have not forgotten about it and will demand that an investigation be made by the grand jury soon to be impaneled.

ODD FELLOWS PARADE

Call Has Gone Out For Ninety-Two Bands to Furnish Marching Music.

Indianapolis, Sept. 13.—One hundred thousand Odd Fellows are expected in Indianapolis on Wednesday of next week, when the "biggest ever" parade will take place in the evening as one of the events of the session of the sovereign grand lodge, which will meet all the week.

In a special parade program and circular, which has just been issued to all the lodges of Indiana, a request is made that the Odd Fellows of each of the ninety-two counties of the state send a band for the parade. In a similar parade in Indianapolis ten years ago, fifty-seven bands were in line, and the Odd Fellow officials wish to exceed this number this year.

TRIES TO BURY DOG
NEAR 1776 HEROES.

Boston Woman Has Grave Dug, but Police Interfere.

Because Mrs. Sarah Bowman Van Ness, a sister-in-law of the Rev. Ruthenas Van Ness of the Second Unitarian church, Boston, and a regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, had a grave dug in the Lexington cemetery—where lie the bodies of many heroes of the Revolutionary war—for her pet Irish setter, the historic towns of Lexington and Concord raised an uproar.

The dog, which was seventeen years old, was the property of Mrs. Van Ness' late husband, Joseph Van Ness, who was greatly attached to the animal. After his master's death the dog went to the cemetery day after day, lying on the grave, and it was not for some months that he could be induced to stay away. Because of the strong attachment between dog and master Mrs. Van Ness thought it would be fitting to have the dog buried as near her husband as possible.

She sent word to the caretaker of the graveyard, who dug a full sized grave in the Van Ness lot. Herbert Wellington, who has charge of the Lexington cemetery, heard of Mrs. Van Ness' intentions and enlisted the Lexington police force to block them.

The date of the burial was set, and Mrs. Van Ness, accompanied by her lawyer and several friends, drove up to the cemetery. The dog's body was borne in a large wooden box covered with black crape. The funeral services were just about to start when the law, in the persons of Mr. Wellington and the police force, intervened and forbade the burial.

After a spirited argument in the cemetery the dog's body was taken back to Mrs. Van Ness' home in East Lexington and temporarily buried there.

"I feel that the dog should be beside my husband," said Mrs. Van Ness. "But I may be forced by public opinion to change my plans."

LOCOMOTIVES COMPARED.

Progress in Eighty Years Shown—The Powerful Pacific Type.

Comparison between the largest passenger locomotives built for the Pennsylvania railroad and the oldest locomotive in America shows the progress made since the first railroad train was put into service at Bordentown, N. J., on the Camden and Amboy railroad in 1831, eighty years ago. The oldest locomotive, John Bull, is still intact at the National museum in Washington.

The locomotive which the Pennsylvania railroad has adopted for heavy passenger service is of the Pacific type. The locomotive and tender when loaded with coal and water weigh about 430,000 pounds. The John Bull, loaded for operation, weighs 24,625 pounds, about one-seventeenth as much as the new engine, which has six driving wheels eighty inches in diameter. The driving wheels of the old engine are only fifty-four inches in diameter.

The boiler of the new type locomotive contains 339 tubes, each 20.9 feet long, making a total of nearly a mile and a half of two and a quarter inch tubes through which the flames and heat from the firebox pass on their way to the stack. The heating surface of the tubes is 4420.6 square feet, and, in addition, the firebox has a heating surface of 199.3 square feet. This space is heated to a high temperature to convert the water in the boiler to steam at a pressure of 205 pounds per square inch. The tubes in the John Bull are seven and a half feet long, and the tube heating surface is only 213 square feet.

WORLD'S BIGGEST WARSHIPS.

Two New Ones For American Navy to Hold the Record.

The two new battleships authorized by the last naval act probably will be of 28,500 tons displacement, or the biggest war vessels in the world. The largest ships so far designed for the American navy are the New York and Texas, with a displacement of 27,000 tons each, and it became known only recently that the navy department contemplated exceeding their size.

The new ships will have heavier armor than ever before put on a battleship, which accounts for their increased displacement. The armament of the new vessels will be the same as the New York and Texas, with a main battery of ten fourteen-inch guns.

With this approach to a 30,000 ton battleship the naval ordnance experts are considering the question of a sixteen inch gun. It will require a 35,000 ton battleship to withstand the terrific recoil from a main battery of ten sixteen-inch guns.

POEM FOR PEACE MONUMENT.

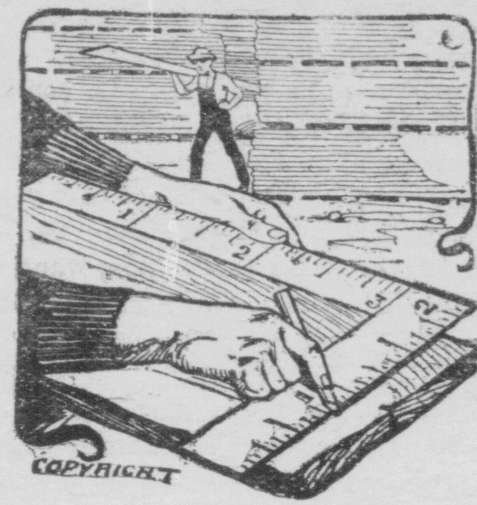

Howard V. Sutherland Writes For Panama Canal Entrance Ornament.

A Denver poet will furnish the inscription for the base of the peace monument which the government will erect at the east entrance to the Panama canal.

He is Howard V. Sutherland, author of "Idyls of Greece" and other poems. For the statue of peace, carved by Mrs. Frances Barrette, Mr. Sutherland has contributed this verse:

The mother universal, blessed peace,
Whose children are the races
East and west—the winds intone her praises,
And the seas that thunder at the portals
Of the world
Bid us acclaim her, who would turn from war
To love and benediction.

CONSERVE THE STRAW

By D. O. THOMPSON, Animal Husbandry Department, Purdue Experiment Station
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

The value of the fertilizing elements of Indiana's straw pile for 1910 amounts to approximately eight and an eighth million dollars. This should find its way back to the land of the farms which produced it.

The straw pile on the farms of Indiana is worthy of more respectful attention than is paid to it in many places. It contains this year approximately two and a third million tons. Valuing its fertilizing constituents at 17½ cents per pound for nitrogen, 6 cents per pound for phosphoric acid and for potassium, gives a monetary value of eight and one-eighth million dollars to the wheat, oats, rye and barley straw pile of the state. This is a value of more than twice the amount spent for commercial fertilizers within the state last year.

The illustration shows the characteristic way in which the majority of the straw piles of the state are left by the threshing machines, on a corner of the field, backed up against a clump of trees or piled on top of the rotting remains of the straw piles of several years previous. Very little attempt is made at stacking to prevent rain from soaking the straw, and the pile is oftentimes allowed to stand encumbering a portion of the field from year to year. In some cases the straw is distributed over the field and plowed under, adding to the organic matter in the soil, improving the physical condition of close soils, and acting as a sponge to retain moisture. In a very dry season its presence in an unrotted form may be detrimental, serving to break the capillary whereby moisture is brought from the water-table toward the surface. In some few cases the practice of burning the straw is in vogue. A state cannot long afford to burn up any considerable part of eight million dollars annually, and the practice is to be condemned unless in exceptional cases, as where the object of burning is to destroy the joint worm. Even then a better practice would be to run all the straw through the feed lot, killing the worm in that way.

Work Straw Through Feed Lot.

This is the best manner of getting the greatest value from the straw. In the feed lot, the straw acts as a bedding to keep the cattle clean, dry and comfortable, to soak up the liquid excrement, and hold and preserve the solid. Furthermore, it rots and adds its fertility value to the manure. A conservative estimate based upon observation places the fertility value of straw unused annually at one and two-thirds million dollars. Were this properly cared for and given its rightful place in the farm economy, the commercial fertilizer bill of the state could be cut in half, and the value of the amount of fertility applied to the land of the state remain unchanged.

Mutual Boosting.

The best advertisements of a city are its newspapers. This point was emphasized in an address recently delivered by C. E. Broughton, editor of the Sheboygan (Wis) Daily Press before the Business Men's Association of his home city. In developing this point Mr. Broughton made some suggestions that ought to be of value to readers and advertisers of daily newspapers in every city. He said: "How can Sheboygan best be advertised? has been a question confronting the people of this city and the same question confronted every association in the land which has organized for the purpose of bringing advantages of their city to the ears of the public.

"Tonight we are meeting members of your association in order to become better acquainted, to talk over what is best for the city, for what is of welfare to the city must of necessity be of advantage to her citizenship.

"You have listened to a phase of the mail order evil, one of the worst confronting the men in business today and the solution of that problem lies in greater publicity and this same remedy if applied will solve the other problem.

"Publicity will make stronger that which is good and tear down that which is bad. The mail order house can not prosper if you are alert. Public opinion has been a factor in our every day life and will continue so. Those who are coming in here and defrauding the people through misrepresentations in catalogues can find no encouragement if you as business men meet them in this battle that is going on.

"You pay to maintain home enterprises; it is your money that is supporting the schools, paying for improvements in the city and county and you have a right to ask of these people an equal opportunity with the mail order house. It is not only your right, but your privilege and we, as members of this association, want to see your business grow, for with that growth will come a greater Sheboygan.

"A few mail order houses have acquired great wealth because they have been unmolested in their field. It is time for you to assert your rights, to inform the public that their interests are here at home, and where a dollar will go just as far or a little farther as they are obligated to give you the dollar, that it will circulate and aid in making Sheboygan city and county a stronger institution.

"The advantages of a city are best told in the newspaper, for the man who sits behind the desk day in and day out, feeling the pulse of his readers, has advocates and what he says counts more than any argument that the individual in business life can offer. We desire to carry on a battle in your behalf, because we can rely on your giving a "square deal."

"Pardon me if I now take up a little time in newspaper talk. It is the subject with which I am most familiar, for the print shop has been my home for twenty-five years. If you were planning an invasion of some other city or desirous of locating there, one of the first steps would be to send for a newspaper in that place, that you might scan the columns and gain knowledge of the advantages offered. I know this to be true because there is hardly a week passes that we do not have to mail a paper to some interested party.

"A city is gauged by her enterprises. As the enterprises talk through the columns the paper grows and so when a man looks over a paper to view a town, he reads between the lines. He forms his first opinion of that city. If it is good, then more than half the battle is won. You need not be surprised if he takes up his residence in the city which has first caught his eye. We of the city of Sheboygan want to catch the eye of the world; that eye can be reached through a talk to the army of readers in this and adjacent counties. Reach your friends through the columns of their paper and you will have an army of workers that will drive out the worthless that will make Sheboygan stronger. I have heard it said that we want to advertise to the world. If this be true, then let us start advertising in the best section of the world. Sheboygan and the State of Wisconsin. Let us aid you in wider publicity through our news and editorial columns. Let us drive from the field the mail order house, so far as Sheboygan county is concerned, without a cent of expense to you, and then let us have from your indorsement of our work by patronage in our advertising columns, so that we will continue to uplift. We do not come to you asking favors. We come to you to give our best efforts as far as we are of one great body, working for one common cause, the welfare of Sheboygan county, and must appeal to us all."

Did you ever see a boy that would admit that he liked to go to school? If he did admit it, was he any good in after life?

From lusty juvenility a practically unanimous protest goes up against the call of the school bell.

This is true even with a great many children of a mature habit of mind. At home they will ask any amount of questions about facts in geography and history, indicating that the subjects they are handling in school seem to interest them.

The essential trouble undoubtedly comes from the attempt to convert the youngster over from the savage into the civilized state. It is the theory of educators that even young life goes through all the periods of development through which the entire human race has passed. Every boy has a period when he conforms very closely to the habits and ideals of the old American Indians.

When you reflect that it takes 2000 years to turn the untutored tribes of Europe into the civilized peoples of today, it is no wonder that it takes several years to convert a potential Sitting Bull into an ordinary humdrum merchant or mechanic.

That the followers of Senator La Follette are simply looking for a chance to criticize President Taft, says the Marion Chronicle, is made evident by the New York Tribune, which quotes Senator Cummings as saying: "I do not approve of the recall of judges, but all these things become immaterial in the presence of one progressive proposition, viz., that Congress has no right to prescribe constitutions for these incoming States." The Tribune shows that Senator Cummins voted for the Statehood enabling act which required the return of the constitutions of the two new States to the president and congress for approval. Senator Beveridge stated, on the floor of the Senate that this was due in order that a safeguard as to the wisdom of the provisions of the constitution might be provided. Senator Cummins' idea of a "progressive" proposition is merely that it shall differ from the position taken by President Taft.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Medical Association declares that handshaking is as great a menace to health as public drinking or promiscuous kissing. The Fort Wayne News suggests that if this were true the longevity of the chronic office seeker would not continue to plague the populace. Even the existence of the kissing germ may well be doubted. If osculation were dangerous the college widow would not attain such ripe old age.

It must be an awful jolt to a man when he is polite to his wife in public for her to act like she wasn't used to it.

Since T. A. Edison, the venerable inventor, who is taking his first vacation in twenty-five years, declares he is looking for worry, we favor that he be sentenced to listening to one whole tune played on one of his phonographs.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL LEAVES HER HOME

Mariam Dailey of Indianapolis, Who is Related in This County, Packs Clothes and Departs.

HER ACTIONS UNEXPLAINED

The following from the Indianapolis News concerning Mariam Dailey of Indianapolis, granddaughter of Mrs. Mariam Dailey of near Orange, who has visited her often:

Packing her best clothes in two suit cases, Mariam Dailey, seventeen years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Dailey, 2432 North New Jersey street, went out the back door last night and disappeared, while her mother and father were seated in a front room down stairs. Both the parents believed the girl had retired, and did not discover that she was missing until later, when the police were notified. Both parents told the police the girl had had no trouble at home and seemed unusually happy while making preparations to return to Shortridge high school and resume her studies. Inquiry among a number of her friends failed to reveal where she had gone. The parents are at a loss to account for the girl's action. The police were asked to be on the lookout for the girl.

FRANK J. HALL IS WILLING TO ACCEPT

Lieutenant Governor is Receptive Candidate For Nomination For Governor.

"ALL DEPENDS ON THE BOYS"

Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall is still a receptive candidate for the nomination for governor on the Democratic ticket as he has been for some time. Ever since somebody mentioned his name in that connection, he has been in a "willing-to-accept" frame of mind, but he will not make his own announcement.

The lieutenant governor is a great friend of newspaper reporters. The other day he was in Indianapolis and was accosted by a number of political writers on Indianapolis newspapers, all of whom wanted to make his announcement. In describing the incident, Mr. Hall said, "I just told them that I would not announce my own candidacy. If they want me they'll have to call me. It all depends upon the boys. If they want me to be a candidate I am ready and willing."

MRS. G. V. CONWAY GREATLY IMPROVED

Suffered Stroke of Paralysis With Only Her Mother in the House.

WAS UNABLE TO CALL AID

Mrs. G. V. Conway, who suffered a stroke of paralysis Monday night at her home, 526 North Main street, was greatly improved today and according to the attending physician had a good chance of recovery. Mrs. Conway was alone in the house at the time she was taken ill, with her mother, Mrs. Eliza Cartmel, who is an aged woman. Mrs. Cartmel was unable to summons aid and it was not until the next morning that she succeeded in getting the neighbors who called the doctor. The aged woman was placed in a very trying position as she could not use the telephone and the front door could not be opened. She gave her daughter treatment as best she could and in a way, perhaps saved her life. Mr. Conway is a traveling salesman and was called from the road to his wife's bedside.

Concerning the wedding of Harry J. Root and Miss Meta Johnson of Indianapolis, who has visited here often and who is well known here, the Indianapolis Star says:

he home of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Johnson on North Emerson avenue was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening, when their daughter, Miss Meta Katherine Johnson became the bride of Harry J. Root. The wedding guests included only members of the family and a few intimate friends. The service was read by the Rev. John Martin, pastor of the Irvington Presbyterian church.

Green and white were the colors chosen for the wedding and the rooms were attractively decorated. In the ceremony room there was an altar of palms and ferns. The other rooms were decorated with greenery and clusters of white roses. The bride, who was unattended, wore a simple lingerie gown combined with baby Irish lace and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The "Mendelssohn Wedding March" was played for the entrance of the bride and bridegroom by Miss Goldie McKelvey and just before the ceremony Miss Irene Yarnell, an intimate friend of the bride, sang "O Promise Me." The ceremony was followed by an informal reception. Mr. and Mrs. Root left today for their wedding trip to Louisville, Ky. The bride traveled in a dark blue serge tailored suit with hat to match. The at-home announcement is for 446 North Emerson avenue after October 1. Among the guests from out of the city who came to attend the ceremony were Miss Fannie Gregg, Miss Helen Black, and Miss Stella Charles of Rushville, Ind.; Mrs. Tennie Hathaway of Kokomo, Ind.; and Miss Lena Avery of Shelbyville, Ind.

JUNK IS MUCH ABUSED WORD

Is Generally Used by Persons Wishing to Express Contempt For Something.

MEANS WORTHLESSNESS

But Junk Has Made Millionaires Out of Many People—Where Does It Go?

"Junk" is a word that one hears nearly every day and often many times between dawn and dusk. It is a word applied to objects supposed to be worthless or at least of very small commercial value. But it is doubtful if there is a more abused word in the vocabulary of the average person. It is used mostly by persons speaking in contempt of something.

OSLER RIGHT; YOUTH SUCCEEDS AGE

Gray Hair Is First Sign of Age. Harmless Remedy Restores to Natural Color.

Osler isn't the only man who turns down old age. In the business world the "young man" is always the one who picks the plums. It is an age of "new thought," "new talent," etc., and the old man is passed by in the race.

One of the first signs of coming age is the appearance of gray hairs. When you see them, act promptly. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will correct this sign, which so often deceives people into thinking that age is really upon them. It is a well-known fact that Sage and Sulphur will darken the hair. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur combines these old-time remedies with other agents, which remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize the druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists, Rushville, Indiana.

FOR CONSTIPATION

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Satisfies.

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which is odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physic, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Three sizes, 50c, 25c and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, Lytle's Drug Store, corner Third and Main streets.

shoes and nails can be found in these almost mountainous stacks. Practically all the iron articles where it is re-melted, mixed with pig iron, and worked up into new products.

Paper, bought by the tons in Rushville, yearly, also has its commercial use. The paper used in the newspaper is carefully separated from the coarse grain paper which usually accompanies it and is packed and baled separately. When the product reaches the paper factories it is shredded and remade into paper. In the pile of newspaper is thrown the string which also is used to make the very best quality of paper. The second grade of refuse after being separated from the newspaper stock is placed with cardboard and all articles with paper as one of their component parts and sent with the newspaper stock to the factories to be made into second grade and wrapping paper.

Rubber, whether it is taken from the outside of a garden hose or comes directly from a pair of boots, is eagerly sought for by junk dealers. After reaching the factories the strictly rubber part is extracted and placed with the stock that is fresh from the trees. The rubber in this condition, according to manufacturers, is practically as good as rubber boots are extensive users of second-hand rubber.

Fertilizer in large quantities is manufactured from bones collected in this city. The slaughter houses are the main source of supply. The skeletons of the animals are placed in huge grinders and ground to a powder state. The bone is also used in its ground state for the winter forcing of hens for egg laying.

The motto of junk dealers throughout the country is "don't waste a thing." It is from saving discarded articles considered worthless by others that the main source of the junk dealers profit comes. And from the appearance of articles and the methods used by the manufacturers to work them into new articles the dealers live up to their trade, saving in every way.

Unconventionalities.

"I just knew you were coming to visit us, Cousin Abigail. I saw the new moon over my left shoulder the other evening."

"Don't apologize for bringing the dog with you when you come to call, Mrs. Jipes. I've noticed that you don't stay quite so long when you bring him."

"I don't remember that I ever lent you any money, my dear fellow. If I did, I charged it up to profit and loss."

"Landlord, I haven't given a tip to any of the waiters, but I'll give you a tip if you'll tell me how you manage to get people to come and stay at your old shebang."

"You mustn't mind my telling you, Boris, that your latest book is the rottenest thing you ever wrote—and that's saying a good deal."

"Lettie, dear, you're a good girl, but if ever you get a husband you'll have to catch him with a lasso."—Chicago Tribune.

The Silver Lining.

Richard Barry, the well known anti-suffrage writer, said at a recent anti-suffrage dinner in Albany:

"The masculine tyranny that women complain of is often a blessing in disguise."

"Men are so hideously lacking in self control," a young girl once said to her mother.

"Well, don't find fault with that," the mother answered. "If they weren't most girls would die old maids."—New York Tribune.

PARTY WORKER MUST HUSTLE

Politicians, Aspiring For County Chairmanships, Are Warned by Big Political Leaders.

JOBS, REAL ONES THIS YEAR

New Registration Law and Corrupt Practices Act, Will Make Work Heavy.

Politicians in Indiana, who are aspiring to chairmanships, either state or county, are being warned by the big political leaders that the jobs are to be real jobs, and that when such places are attained, the holders may expect not only to give virtually their entire time to the duties, but that they will be put to it to make the financial ends of the campaign meet, says the Indianapolis News. The new registration law, enacted in the recent general assembly, and the corrupt practices act, enacted in the same session, are the things that will give the chairman much work to do.

Both the registration and the corrupt practices acts were passed to insure honest elections. Since, under the former, no person will be permitted to cast a ballot in the general election who has not been properly registered under the law, it will behoove the county chairman of the respective parties to see that every voter eligible to registration is registered in one of the sessions, and since the law is new and not well understood, the work devolving on the county chairman to see that all the voters avail themselves of the opportunity to insure their voting rights will require, it is now believed virtually all the time of such chairman. It will be the task of the state chairman to work through the county and sub-chairman to see that all voters are registered.

The selection of the machinery for the registration sessions, and the selection of proper men for carrying on the work, including the canvass of precincts to urge registration of the voters, it is expected, will not only require a sharp campaign of education for weeks preceding the meeting in May, but will require a large force of workers to see to it that the lagards do not forget their duty.

The corrupt practices act, politicians say, will present a serious problem to state and county chairmen because it will operate to cut off a great deal of money formerly collected from various sources for campaign expenses. It will be up to the state and county chairmen to make the most of the situation presented by the new law, and to work out plans whereby the increased amount of campaign work may be done with

DON'T EXPERIMENT

You Will Make no Mistake if You Follow This Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys.

If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are common symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. It has cured many stubborn cases in this vicinity.

Can Rushville residents demand further proof than the following testimonial?

Mrs. L. W. Smith, R. F. D. No. 19, Arlington, Ind., says: "My child was afflicted with kidney complaint and suffered severely from backache and headaches. The doctors could give no relief and the various remedies that were tried proved just as useless. At last we learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and my husband obtained a box. This preparation soon brought relief and since taking it, the child has been in much better health. I give Doan's Kidney Pills my most hearty endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

the deceased revenues. Under the new law, it is held, corporations and individuals who formerly contributed to both leading parties' expenses will be wary in their gifts, and some of them will cut off their contributions entirely, in order to avoid the publicity sought to be insured by the act.

The crop of aspirants for state chairmanships has not been lessened by the situation, but it is declared that both committees will use more care than in the past in selecting their chairmen. Formerly the state chairmanship might be filled by political timber which would not suffice at all under the new conditions, politicians say.

Although a number of counties are arranging for meetings of the leading politicians to discuss the registration and the corrupt practices acts in preparation for the campaign of next year, no arrangements are under way, it is declared, for an early meeting of either the Democratic or the Republican state committees. It is the plan to acquaint the county workers with the conditions of the new laws before the state organizations are called together to go over them.

MAINE ELECTION TURNED AROUND

Prohibition Wins In State Contest, After All.

A REVISION OF THE FIGURES

Discovery of Discrepancies Due to Telephone Mistakes or to Incorrectly Tabulated Returns Changes Whole Complexion of Things and Turns the Mourning of the Drys Into Joyful Strains of Victory.

Portland, Me., Sept. 13.—With fourteen small towns to hear from at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning tabulated reports of the "wet" and "dry" election in Maine gave a majority of 621 for the wets.

At 8:30 last night, with the reports from all towns and cities in, the drys had a majority of 515 votes. The entire fourteen towns polled in round numbers 400 votes, almost evenly divided, so that they had but a few votes effect on the general result. The discrepancy of 1,136 votes between the morning and evening reports was due almost wholly to telephone mistakes in receiving returns or to incorrectly tabulated town votes, several towns being placed in the wet column when they should have been in the dry column.

In the morning the state committee of the No License League had decided to ask for a recount, so close was the supposed margin in favor of the wets.
In the evening the wets were all talking of a recount. In the morning, too, the workers for the repeal of the constitutional amendment were ready for a celebration. By evening the Prohibitionists were laughing in their sleeves.

NOT DISCOURAGED

Aviator Fowler Got Bad Fall but Will Resume Flight.

Auburn, Cal., Sept. 13.—Robert G.
Fowler, who started from San Francisco on a flight across the continent, lies in a little hospital at the mountain of Alta in the Sierras with his back sprained and suffering from many bruises. His aeroplane lies a tangled mass of wreckage at the base of a big pine tree that stands on the edge of the rocky gorge through which the Southern Pacific winds its way through the mountains. Because of the accident to the steering gear of the machine soon after the start from here Fowler lost control of the plane and while trying to land collided with the tree. His machine fell through the branches of the tree and was badly damaged. The aviator escaped with minor injuries and says that he will be able to resume the flight within two or three days and will complete the journey barring accidents.

Robbers Intimidate Eight and Loot a Wyoming Bank.

Cokeville, Wyo., Sept. 13.—Posses are on the trail of the bandits who entered the Cokeville National bank and lined up the eight men in the room at the time. The robbers got about $1,500 in money, locked the officers of the bank in the vault, and escaped. The robbers were last seen riding up Smith's Fork canyon. The robbery is attributed to Hugh Whitney, the Idaho bandit, and his brother.

Two Automobiles Collided.

limb was broken and she may be internally injured also. Mrs. Chair is the wife of one of the American Tobacco company's buyers.

petition of citizens of Lexington Judge Scott entered an order that a vote on the question of the adoption of the commission form of municipal government be taken at the regular election,

GOLD BRICK ARTIST TAKEN AT CHICAGO

Alleged Leader of Band of Confidence Men.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Arrested by federal authorities here, A. O. Potter, alleged leader of a band of confidence men, who is said to have earned $1-500,000 through sales of "gold bricks" and green goods, is being held in $150,000 bonds. Potter and Edward Starkloff are under indictment in Chicago for illegally using the mails to defraud and to operate a confidence game. The men also are wanted for forfeiting their bond in Philadelphia.
An indictment charging illegal use of the mails is also pending in the United States court in New York. A cash bond for $50,000 was offered to the government for the release of Potter, but nothing less than a bond of $150-000 will be accepted by the government officials and every effort will be made to keep him in custody.

A year ago Potter and Starkloff forfeited a $23,000 bond in the United States court at Philadelphia. The gang, it is said, has available a fund of $50,000 in cash for the sole purpose of obtaining the liberty of members of the gang when arrested.

Potter and Starkloff are familiarly known among the police as "the gold dust twins" because of the scheme by which they are said to have separated victims from hundreds of thousands of dollars.

BOLD TRAIN ROBBERY

Three Men Create Panic and Disappear With Jewelry.

Fulton, Ky., Sept. 13.—Jewelry valued at $7,500 was stolen from Mrs.
Earle Brewer, wife of the governor-elect of Mississippi, here according to charges formally presented by Mr.
Prewer through his attorney. The theft took place on a Pullman car.

Mrs. Brewer was en route to Clark-dale, Miss., from Chicago, where she had spent the summer. She carried the valuables in a handbag, which disappeared when three men who had been on the car were put off after having engaged in a rough and tumble fight. According to the theory of the governor-elect the men had followed Mrs. Brewer from Chicago and the fight was especially arranged to throw the passengers in a panic.

Negro Beaten Nearly to Death.

Maysville, Ky., Sept. 13.—Jim Hedges, a negro of Selena, this county, who was suspected of writing a note to a white girl, expressing a desire to call upon her, was taken in hand by a mob of prominent citizens and nearly beaten to death with hickory switches.

GOVERNORS GET TOGETHER AGAIN

Governor Wilson Welcomes Centrifers to New Jersey.

TALKING OVER STATE AFFAIRS

Annual Conference of "the House of Governors" Takes Up Matters Relating to an Increase of Gubernatorial Power and Discusses Such Questions as the Initiative and Referendum, the Recall and Woman's Suffrage

Spring Lake, N. J., Sept. 13.—Governor Emmet O'Neal of Alabama and a positive person, sat in the house of governors and listened to western governors say pretty things about the initiative, referendum and the recall until he got tired. Then he rose up, grabbed the recall in his right hand slapped it, pulled its nose, kicked it in the shins and slammed it down with a few remarks to the effect that he had a low opinion of folks who held by such insidious popular vagaries.
Whereupon Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, who had been smiling placidly all day and beaming on all the governors in sight, hustled to his feet to say that the governor of Alabama might know what was going on in his own state, but elsewhere in a land full of slippery officials such statements were piffle. The set-to between the governor of Alabama and the governor of New Jersey perked up the first session considerably. Drowsy governors who had leaned their ears for six hours against solemn speeches calling for some more power to the governors' elbows and speeches ac-claiming the recall as a divine institution, straightened their backs and began to take an interest in the proceedings. There were bellicose looks to O'Neal and Wilson's jaw muscles were working, but nothing happened after all. So the governors leaned back to watch Congressman Hobson circulate among the women suffragists and wait till the dinner gong sounded.

Looking last evening from the veranda of the new Monmouth hotel, where the governors are living and talking, one found the view of the ocean somewhat obstructed by governors. Smoking their after-dinner cigars, they promenade up and down unobscured, no doubt, of the summer colonists and hotel boarders who flocked to be near greatness. There were so many governors that a plain lieutenant governor or even a secretary of state would have been a relief to the eye. There had arrived at that time twenty-three executives out of the forty-eight that constitute the house of governors. More are expected. Every governor who got a chance sounded the praises of his own great state, with no reflections on anybody else's great state, and nearly every governor whacked disobedient legislatures for seeming to think that party platforms were jokes that ought to go with a slap-stick and a make-up.

Governor Wilson started things with a speech of welcome. He said
New Jersey was glad to have the governors for their second independent conference. Nobody was under a misapprehension as to what Governor Wilson meant by independent. They who had taken part in the conference dominated by Roosevelt laughed heartily. At which a broad smile appeared on Governor Wilson's face. "The vitality of the conference is manifested," Governor Wilson said, with a sharp look around the room, "by the fact that it has released itself from federal guidance. We are now an independent body."

The governors applauded Governor
Wilson and their own independent body.

WEDDING WENT ON

But Not Until Bridgegroom Killed Ob-streperous Uncle of Bride.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 13.—When William Fisher opened fire on a wedding party near Springfield, Tenn., in an attempt to prevent the wedding of his niece to Benjamin Manlo, of Scholon, Ky., young Manlo returned the fire, killing the objecting uncle.

Then the party proceeded to the home of a preacher, where the wedding knot was tied.

Fisher was the only member of the bride's family who did not favor Man-lo's suit. There will be no prosecution.

Mt. Etna Getting Busy.

Catania, Sept. 13.—The stream of lava from Mt. Etna is advancing at the rate of 400 yards an hour. It is 300 yards wide and eight miles long and threatens both the railroad and the highroad. It has devastated the pine forests and vineyards of Caciagallina and Cardonara. Incessant tremors, loud rumblings and explosions are felt and heard and there are intermittent rains of lapilli and ashes.

Warned to Keep Out of Politics.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 13.—Mayor Skain and the board of police and fire commissioners had the chiefs, captains and other officers of both departments
"on the carpet" and gave them to understand that political activity on the part of any officer of man in either department will be met with immediate dismissal.

FEARED HER BOY WOULD BE STOLEN

began to fire questions at her, asking her the reasons for so much distress and hysterical actions.

She still continued to talk incoherently and grasped her bright eyed and wondering youngster to her arms as she cried out many different times that "they" should not have her boy and that "they" were not going to get him as long as she was alive. After several men had failed one succeeded in getting the story from her lips. She said that she and her husband had been separated for some time and that she wanted to keep her son even though he persisted, with the assistance of his relatives, in stealing it. She related between sobs that she had gone to Indianapolis, leaving the boy with her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. William Hoard of 410 East Ninth street, only returning to find that her husband had come and taken the boy away.

Between cries of pain and hysterical motions she recited the details of her trip to the Innis home last evening which resulted in her rushing down the street and creating such a disturbance. She declared, still rambling in her conversation, that members of the Innis family refused to allow her to take the child away and that she took it by force after somewhat of a tussle. That she had been in some kind of a mixup her appearance testified for her hair was disheveled, her clothing all awry and her features distorted as if she were suffering great emotional distress.

She said that she had come down town to see Prosecutor Dennis O'Neal, and after she had calmed down considerably, she went to his office. She was unable to find him and remained in the stairway leading to his office for some time yesterday evening.

That murder was being committed was the belief of neighbors when Mrs. Innis created such an uproar at the Innis boarding house where she went after her boy. It is said that the young mother did most of the screaming with very little cause and the members of the husband's family allowed her to take the child rather than have a "scene."

PRaises WATSON AS A LECTURER

Writer in The Platform Magazine

Says Watson Has Gained Recognition as Lecturer.

INTUITION OF LEADERSHIP

Tells of Time When He Scored His First Big Success—Took Billy Sunday's Place.

Writing in "The Platform," a magazine devoted to the lyceum platform and chautauqua John A. Siebert says of James E. Watson of this city, who has gained an enviable reputation as a lecturer at chautauqua in the last few years:

The chautauqua is the most democratic institution in the world today. Ignorance and prejudice cannot understand this movement and it is impossible for even many who are actively engaged in the work to understand that the chautauqua is the one best place to be heard.

When Senator LaFollette was given the cold shoulder at Washington he took his message to the chautauquas and the greatest mistake the standpatters ever made was when they failed to see that this was the real forum and that it mattered little what was said at Washington, for there they faced a fixed jury, but it did make all the difference in the world what is said on the chautauqua platform.

Here is the way Walt Mason views the chautauqua: "When first chautauquas made their bid for public favor and support I liked the sort of work they did, and to their meetings would cavort. Then there were helpful talks and songs a cultured sport would make a speech, and some old chap with whiskers long would lariat a text and preach. No freaks had jumped into the game and fakers then were rightly spurned; the speakers oft were men of fame—the sort of fame that's fairly earned. But now I have some weary sighs when to chautauqua tents I go, for circus features tire the eyes; it's like a dog and pony show. A dame returned from British jails where she put in a bunch of years stands up before the crowd and wails and gets applause that should be jeers. The fake explorer stands and bores the crowd with stories of the pole; the windy politician roars a long and useless rigmarole. The later day chautauqua plans embrace the has-beens of all shores; exgovernors and also rans and all varieties of bores. The program of next year, methinks, will play up all the standard freaks; the jugglers and glass eating ginks and bearded dames and tattooed Greeks."

When we loose faith in men then degradation, death and destruction stare us in the face. The great leaders of inaction, oppression and crime, are unbelievers in men. Fear, suspicion and doubt always have been the god-fathers of inaction, oppression and crime, while confidence, hope and love have ever been the foster parents of progress, noble achievement and eternal happiness.

Perhaps no other political advocate of our time who has been associated with the conservative faction of the Republican party has seen far into the future as James E. Watson. He has established his reputation as one of the ablest political orators of this generation. As a member of congress from the Hoosier state he was a national character, brilliant in his generalship as whip of the Republican house, sagacious in his tactics and effective in all that he undertook.

His lecture, "Our Ideals—National and Individual," is a splendid antidote for the dangers and follies of the over zealous progressive statesman and the eager muck raker who revels in scandal and profits by the disgrace of others. That there is a place for a sane, sensible discussion of such a theme, no one but a narrow minded bigot would deny.

There are none better qualified to champion the conservative view of our political affairs as the eloquent ex-congressman from Indiana. Nature has done wonders for "Jim"

Watson. He has the national intuition of leadership and in the fields of law and letters he is recognized as a genius.

Mr. Flude of the Chautauqua Managers Association says that during the four years that his association has booked Mr. Watson not one single adverse criticism was ever heard from his lectures. His first chautauqua success was a Freeport, Ill., where he took the place of Billy Sunday. There he spoke to nearly five thousand persons who had been expecting Mr. Sunday, and were at first naturally disappointed. He had not spoken five minutes before the great audience was captivated, and the daily papers of that city reported it as being the greatest speech ever delivered in Freeport. Harry M. Holbrook, the manager of the Chautauqua, wrote a characteristic letter at that time saying: "Jim Watson is 'it' and can have my money any old time. He made great here and is a prince." This was only the beginning, however, and every speech he made during the past summer was just as great a success. Mr. Watson has been known as the most eloquent speaker in the House of Representatives at Washington. He has upheld this reputation in his work upon the Chautauqua platform, and is already one of the greatest political cards available for assemblies.

One of the best traits of Mr. Watson's make up is his ability to see the happy side even when the joke is on himself, and thereby hangs the secret of much of his success. He tells of his first political speech when he ran for prosecuting attorney, the county chairman accompanied him and on the road home after the festivities he waited for the wise old Solon to express his opinion of the speech, and being loathe to open up the conversation, the young candidate took it upon himself to aid the natural drift of the conversation around to the oratorical effort of the evening, so he asked:

"Well, did I miss anything this evening?"

"Yes," said the chairman, you missed four mighty good chances to quit."

He has a well earned reputation as an orator, but better yet, he has the ability to make good. He has a splendid voice, a strong personality, a great personal magnetism and he has the power to grip and hold an audience as few men can.

New Fall Styles Simply Irresistible

The present inclination is toward artistic simplicity in dress. And it produces an effect that is nothing short of fascinating.

You see a plain tailored garment hanging on the rack and wonder at its unassuming appearance.

You put it on and stand before the mirror lost in admiration.

The long, slightly curved lines, lend more grace to your figure than you ever dreamed possible.

You finger the material and find it exquisitely fine and soft, or else one of the unmistakably smart Scotch tweeds.

You look it over in detail and you find the tailoring flawless.

You take another look in the mirror and see the "custom-made" effect. All these combine to make the simple appearance of the garment wholly charming and quite irresistible.

Special Attention to Children's Coats

Much thought has been given in the selection of garments for children's school wear. Attractive, comfortably warm, and reasonably priced, they will appeal both to the young miss and to the parental purse. There are plain coats, fancy mixtures, and what we specially feature—plush and caracul coats. Buy early and get the full season's wear.
